CURRENT CURRENT PRACTICES

Music Composition 212, 412

(2008, Fall Term)

Instructor, Robert Morris              Time:  Tuesday, Thursday; 8:35-9:55 am

Schedule

The following lists the topics and pieces we will cover during the term. Other pieces and composers may be added if necessary. I will try to keep to the following schedule, but I have found I get behind by mid-October. Please note that wherever we are in the schedule, the dates for the three projects and listening quizzes will remain inviolable.

Please be in class on time; I know getting up for an 8:30 class is not often a pleasant task, but having students stumble in late is disruptive and annoying.

There are two kinds of activities in this class: lectures and analysis. In lectures, I will hold forth; in analysis I may assign passages to members of the class to present. I will expect students to be prepared for the analysis no matter who is presenting. There may be home assignments from time to time. I have copies of some of the pieces to pass out to the class; to obtain scores of other pieces, please buy them or use the Sibley library.

Note: we will not hold class on the following days:

Other Matters

Sibley Library

Please check the reserve list for this course at the library on which I have placed many important books, pieces and recordings to supplement the class content.

Readings of Compositional Projects

We will have reading/performances of the projects in the evening on some mutually agreeable date shortly after the deadline. For each project write a short piece (about 1-3 minutes long) for players in the class or get your own players to play your pieces. If you can, hold a brief preliminary rehearsal before the reading/ performance session. You will be asked to introduce your piece to the class and tell us something about it including how it satisfies the nature of the project.

Quizzes

In each of the three quizzes, you will be asked to identify items from one of the three listening lists (see below) by ear alone (no notes, scores, or other aids). Approximately 7 to 10 musical examples on CD or tape will be played up to five times in the exam period, which will occupy a 20 minute period at the end of a class. There will be no “trick” questions. Experience has shown that “cramming” for this exam does not work, so stick to a schedule for listening—so many hours per week. The recordings of the items on the three listening list are on reserve at Sibley, also complied on ten CDs. At the end of this document is a list of the content of the ten CDs.
Final Exam

The final examination lasts 3 hours and will be held sometime during the exam period (see schedule). In the exam, you will be asked to write brief essays on composers and compositional trends and identify terms and concepts covered during the term. You may also be asked to write brief musical examples to illustrate a compositional technique.

Your final grade: depends on class participation (10%), the grades of the three quizzes (10% each), the grades of your three projects (15% each) and the final exam (15%).

Second Term

Second term topics will include: electronic and computer music's influence on new music; new conceptions of musical space, form, and environment; notational innovations; new instrumental resources; indeterminacy, stochastic and aleatoric composition; micro-polyphony and “mass orchestration;” theater and ritual music; process music; improvisation; neo-romanticism; minimalism; post-modernism.
